

Installing & Using Log-Me-In Software Technology

Log-Me-In Installation Instructions

OWG will send you a link to your email inviting you to join as a user.

When you click on the link provided in the email you will be asked to provide a username.

After you have been added as a user on this account you will need to add your PC to the account list.

On the right hand side near the top you will see a “add computer” link (See Image 1.1)

After you click on the link it will start the process of installing Log-Me-In on your PC.

*Please make sure you click on the free version.

Add Computer

Select a LogMeIn Product

At that point you go to a download page where the software should automatically start if it doesn't click on the link to do so.

You will be directed to install the software; very basic instructions.

You will come to a point where you will need to name the PC, please use the name given to your PC

*Then you will be asked to select an access code, please use provided code from OWG

*If you have a password already set on your computer the software will recognize this and use this as your access code.

If this is the case please email OWG the password so I will be able to log in to your pc when needed.

Once the software is completed you will see a small gray box in the system tray in the bottom right hand corner.

You will be able to see if the web portal is open or closed. When this is closed OWG will not be able to log on your PC

The way to change this status is to right click on the icon and disable or enable Log-Me-In Access.

After the software is installation is complete OWG will remove you from the user account, this was only used to set up your PC on OWG's Access Account.

Now Olin Wagner is ready to access your PC and offer visual technical support for Assetelite.
